REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE BILL TO VALIDATE CERTAIN TRANSFERS, MADE UNDER THE BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, OF SHARES IN PERMANENT TENURES AND SHARES IN HOLDINGS AT FIXED RENTS OR FIXED RATES; AND TO AMEND SECTIONS 18 AND 106 OF THAT ACT.

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill to validate certain transfers, made under the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, of shares in permanent tenures and shares in holdings at fixed rents or fixed rates; and to amend sections 18 and 106 of that Act, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us, annexed hereto.

Paper No. 19.—Letter, dated 7th November, 1902, from the District and Sessions Judge, Midnapore.

2. The amendments which we have made in the Bill and which are of any importance have been explained in the following paragraphs.

3. The title of the Bill has been altered for the reasons set forth in paragraph 5 of this Report.

4. Preamble.—Paragraphs 5 and 6.—While preserving the substance of paragraph 5 of the original preamble, we have made verbal changes and inter alia omit mention of the Inspector-General of Registration, who was not responsible for the erroneous instructions issued in 1888.

Paragraph 7.—We have made amendments in the sixth paragraph of the original preamble which are partly clerical and are partly involved in our recommendation as to extension of the scope of the Bill which is explained in paragraph 5 of this Report.

We have omitted the seventh paragraph of the original preamble in the view that it is sufficiently clear that section 18 is governed by the provisions of section 17.

5. Clause 1.—We have accepted the view which has been represented in the reports received on the Bill to the effect that its scope should be extended so as to apply to cases of transfer of entire tenures and holdings at fixed rents which have been inadvertently made without payment of landlords' fees; and we have further extended the scope of the Bill so that it will apply also to cases of transfers which may hereafter be inadvertently made without payment of such fees.

For the proviso to this clause we have substituted two provisos containing fresh matter as follows:—

(a) The first proviso saves from the effect of the Bill cases of transfer which have come before and have been finally decided by the Courts.

(b) The second proviso gives the landlord, within a certain limited time, power to apply to the Collector for the realisation of his fee from the transferee, and requires the Collector on such application being made to realise the fee as if it were an arrear of revenue.

6. For the reason stated in paragraph 4 of this Report, we have struck out clause 3 of the Bill as introduced in Council which proposed to amend section 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

7. In clause 4 of the Bill we have thought it best to re-cast section 106 of the Act in order to prevent doubt with regard to the expression "If * * * a dispute arises."

In accordance with the general opinion that the period of two months allowed for the filing of suits before the Revenue officer is too short, we have extended the period to three months.

8. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

BILL

To validate certain transfers, made under the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, of permanent tenures and holdings at fixed rents or fixed rates and of shares in the same; and to amend section 106 of that Act. VIII of 1885

WHEREAS section 12 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, prohibits Registering-officers from registering any instrument purporting or operating to transfer a permanent tenure unless the prescribed landlord's fee is paid to them, for transmission to the landlord;

And whereas section 13 of the said Act directs the Civil Courts, before confirming the sale of a permanent tenure in execution of a decree other than a decree for arrears of rent, and before making a decree or order absolute for the foreclosure of a mortgage of a permanent tenure, to require the purchaser or mortgagee to pay the prescribed landlord's fee, for transmission to the landlord;

And whereas section 17 of the said Act declares that the said sections 12 and 13, among other sections, shall apply also to the transfer of a share in a permanent tenure;

And whereas section 18 of the said Act declares that a raiyat holding at a rent or rate of rent fixed in perpetuity shall be subject to the same provisions with respect to the transfer of his holding as the holder of a permanent tenure;

And whereas, in consequence of the provisions of section 17 of the said Act having been overlooked, transfers of shares in such tenures and holdings have been registered without payment of the prescribed landlord's fee;

And whereas sales of such tenures and holdings and of shares in the same have been confirmed by Civil Courts under the said section 13 without payment of the said fee;

And whereas it is expedient to declare that registered transfers and sales and decrees or orders for foreclosure of mortgage, confirmed and made absolute by the Civil Courts, of permanent tenures and holdings at fixed rates and fixed rents, and of shares in such tenures and holdings, shall not be deemed to be invalid merely on the ground that the said fee has not been paid;

And whereas it is also expedient to amend section 106 of the said Act in manner hereinafter appearing;

And whereas, the said Act having been passed by the Governor General of India in Council, the sanction of the Governor General has been obtained, under section 5 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, to the passing of this Act; 55 & 56 Vict., c. 14.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Validation of transfers of tenures and holdings and shares in the same.

1. No transfer which has heretofore been made or which may hereafter be made under section 12, section 13, section 17 or section 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, of a permanent tenure, or of a holding at a rent or rate of rent fixed in perpetuity or of a share in such tenure or holding, shall be deemed to be invalid merely on the ground that the landlord's fee prescribed by the said sections 12 or 13 has not been paid; VIII of 1885.

Provided always that nothing in this section shall be held to affect the decision of a Court of competent jurisdiction which has become final before the passing of this Act:

Provided also that in any case where the prescribed fee has been left unpaid, the landlord may, within two years of the passing of this Act, or within two years of the date of registration of the document, by which the transfer was effected, or within two years of the date of confirmation of the sale by the Civil Court, or within two years of the date upon which a decree or order absolute for the foreclosure of a mortgage has been made by the Civil Court, apply to the Collector for realization of such fee from the transferee, or from the auction-purchaser or from the person who has obtained an order absolute for foreclosure of mortgage in the Civil Court, and on such application being presented, the Collector shall realize such fee, together with costs of realization, from such person as if it were an arrear of revenue.

Saving of section 88.

2. Nothing in section 1 shall be deemed to affect the provisions of section 88 of the said Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

Substitution of a new section for section 106.

3. For section 106 of the said Act, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"106. In proceedings under this Part, a suit may be instituted before a Revenue-officer at any time within three months from the date of the certificate of the final publication of the record-of-rights under sub-section (2) of section 103A of this Act, by presenting a plaint on stamped paper for the decision of any dispute regarding any entry which a Revenue-officer has made in, or any omission which the said officer has made from the record, whether such dispute be between landlord and tenant or between landlords of the same or of neighbouring estates, or between tenant and tenant, or as to whether the relationship of landlord and tenant exists, or as to whether land held rent-free is properly so held, or as to any other matter, and the Revenue-officer shall hear and decide the dispute:

Institution of suit before a Revenue-Officer.

Provided that the Revenue-officer may, subject to such rules as the Local Government may prescribe in this behalf, transfer any particular case or class of cases to a competent Civil Court for trial."

Short title.

FINAL FORECAST OF THE WINTER RICE CROP OF BENGAL, 1902.

THE following Note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 9th December 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Character of the Season.—The rainfall of the season, from May to November, is given in Appendix II of this forecast. The ante-monsoon showers were exceptionally heavy, especially in Eastern Bengal, but the monsoon broke late, and the fall in June was short, the deficiency being most marked in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. July brought good rain though there was defect in parts of Bihar and Lower Bengal. On the other hand, the fall was excessive in Orissa and parts of Eastern Bengal. In August the fall was deficient in Bihar, Chota Nagpur, and in parts of the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions, but was good elsewhere. In the following month, however, there was plentiful rain in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, and in Northern Bengal the fall was greatly in excess of the normal, while elsewhere it was, on the whole, slightly in defect. October was unusually dry almost all over the Province, so that the monsoon may be said to have terminated in September. November has been literally a rainless month. On the whole, the season, though capricious, has not been unfavourable to the winter rice crop.

Area sown.—The normal area under the winter rice crop in this Province is estimated at 29,879,300 acres. The area actually sown this year is estimated at 29,307,900 acres, as compared with 27,175,400 acres sown last year, the increase being due to seasonable weather during transplantations.

Character of the Crop.—From the summary of the district returns given in Appendix I, it will be seen that Birbhum, Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Rangpur, Bogra, Dacca, Faridpur, Backergunge, Chittagong, Champaran, Purnea, Malda, Sonthal Parganas, and Manbhum estimate an outturn of 100 per cent., or over. In twelve districts (24-Parganas, Khulna, Mymensingh, Tippera, Noakhali, Gaya, Shahabad, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Cuttack, Puri, and Singbhum) the estimate varies between 90 and 99 per cent., and in six it varies from 80 to 89 per cent. In nine others the outturn is estimated at between 70 and 79 per cent., while the remaining two districts show an outturn below 60 per cent. Since the submission of the preliminary forecast of this crop in October last, prospects have deteriorated in 20 districts, have remained unchanged in thirteen (Murshidabad, Khulna, Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Dacca, Faridpur, Backergunge, Noakhali, Champaran, Purnea, and Hazaribagh), and have improved slightly in twelve districts (Rangpur, Bogra, Tippera, Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Saran, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Manbhum, Muzaffarpur, and Darbhanga). Had it not been for the deficiency of the October rains, the crop would have been much above the average. In the first forecast of this crop issued in October, I anticipated a normal outturn for the Province as a whole, if the rest of the season were favourable and especially if the Hathiya rains in Bihar did not fail. But the October rains partially failed, and the final estimates now made by the District Officers give an outturn of only 94 per cent. for the whole Province, which may be accepted.

Gross outturn.—Taking the Provincial outturn at 94 per cent., as estimated by me, the gross outturn for the Province will amount to about 303,605,900 cwts. this year, as compared with an estimated outturn of 221,618,200 cwts. in 1901.

C. G. H. ALLEN,

Offg. Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal.

FINAL FORECAST OF THE BHADOI CROPS OF BENGAL, 1902.

THE following Note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 10th December 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Bhadoi Crops of Bengal, 1902.

Explanatory.—This note furnishes estimates of the area and outturn of all descriptions of bhadoi crops, except jute, indigo, cotton and bhadoi til, which form the chief bhadoi non-food crops of the Province. Separate forecasts of jute, indigo and cotton are issued by this Department, and bhadoi til is included in the report on oil-seed crops. This report therefore deals mainly with the bhadoi food-crops, of which the most important are bhadoi paddy, Indian-corn and millets. These three together make up more than four-fifths of the total area under all the bhadoi food-crops. Bhadoi paddy is chiefly grown in Bengal and Orissa, and occupies 60 per cent. of the total bhadoi food-crop area of the Province. Maize and millets predominate in Bihar and occupy 26 per cent. of this area.

The character of the season.—The rainfall in March and April exceeded the normal almost throughout the Province, and in May also there was fair rain everywhere, except in a few districts of Bihar and Chota Nagpur. The monsoon broke late in June, and the fall in that month was seriously in defect in the Patna and Chota Nagpur Divisions; while, on the other hand, in North and Eastern Bengal, it was excessive, thus aggravating the injury caused by the abnormally heavy ante-monsoon showers. July was a seasonable month, but in August the fall was again deficient, except in North and East Bengal, while floods at the end of the month caused much damage in the Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga districts. In the following month, however, there was copious and general rain in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, and in North Bengal the fall was greatly above the normal, while elsewhere it was, on the whole, slightly in defect. October was abnormally dry almost everywhere and November has been literally rainless, and, on the whole, the season has not been quite favourable to the bhadoi crops.

Area sown.—Excluding the areas cultivated with jute, indigo, cotton and bhadoi til, the normal area under the different bhadoi crops in this Province amounts, according to the district returns which are summarised in Appendix I, to 13,007,100 acres, against 12,978,000 acres reported last year. The increase is due to the revised estimates submitted by the Deputy Commissioner of Ranchi after careful enquiry and by the District Officers of Darbhanga and the Sonthal Parganas in the light of the recent survey figures. The area actually sown this year with bhadoi crops is reported to be 12,559,700 acres, as compared with 12,659,900 acres cultivated last year. The area planted this year with bhadoi food-crops is estimated at 12,075,300 acres, against 12,181,300 acres sown last year.

Character of the crop.—It will be seen from Appendix I that only twelve—(Birbhum, 24-Parganas, Rajshahi, Darjeeling, Bogra, Dacca, Champaran, Malda, Balasore, Hazaribagh, Manbhum, and Singhbhum) out of the 45 districts in the Province, report a crop of 100 per cent. or over; in ten districts—(Nadia, Khulna, Dinajpur, Chittagong, Saran, Purnea, Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Puri and Ranchi) the outturn is estimated at between 90 and 99 per cent.; in nine others, the estimate varies between 80 and 89 per cent., while in the remaining 14, it varies between 59 and 79 per cent. Since the issue of the preliminary forecast in Septemtember last, prospects have improved in 11 districts; have remained unchanged in 23; and have deteriorated in 11. According to the estimates of the District Officers, the total outturn for the Province as a whole, of the various bhadoi crops dealt with in this forecast, will amount to only 88 per cent. of a normal crop, against 90 per cent., as finally estimated by me last year. In the first forecast of these crops, issued in September last, I anticipated a 90 per cent. crop for the entire Province, and I see no reason to change that estimate.

Gross outturn.—Except in the case of bhadoi paddy, it is not possible to estimate the outturn of these crops. Taking 88 per cent. as the probable outturn of the bhadoi paddy this year, the gross outturn of cleaned bhadoi rice may be estimated at 47,209,700 cwts., as compared with 47,499,700 cwts. of the past year.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF NOVEMBER 1902.

WEATHER during November was fine and settled over the Province and the north of the Bay, almost continuously. A few showers fell, chiefly in the western districts, during the first week. These showers being in all cases light, the total rainfall for the month was relatively much below what usually falls in November. Chota Nagpur received 91 per cent. of the normal fall, South-West Bengal 48, North Bengal 36 and the other divisions less than 30 per cent.

The cause of the light rainfall during the first week was probably connected with the disturbance which entered Madras at the end of October and caused very heavy rain in North Madras and the Circars. The depression was shallow when it crossed the coast and appeared to become stationary and fill up soon afterwards. But probably a slight residual depression recurved and entered Bengal a few days later causing the prevailing cloud and scattered showers of those days. The heaviest rainfall amounting, on an average, to a third of an inch fell in the south-western districts between the 1st and 4th, and a few light showers in the central and northern districts between the 5th and 7th.

After the slight disturbance of the first week ceased, the usual cold season conditions became established with light northerly winds, cloudless skies and an entire absence of rainfall with the exception of light showers in the Darjeeling hills between the 15th and 17th. The usual oscillations of pressure and temperature occurred; and during a considerable portion of the month pressure was in rather large excess. Owing to that excess in pressure the gradient was steeper than usual over the Province and the Bay, a probable result of which was strongish northerly winds over the north of the Bay and comparatively cool weather inland.

Towards the south of the Bay conditions were almost continuously unsettled, with strong winds and rough sea, but no definite cyclonic disturbance developed. As usually happens under such circumstances rainfall was of almost daily occurrence on the Madras Coast, and at times heavy rain fell, notably between the 17th and 21st.

The only noticeable feature in the east of the Bay was the strong winds at Diamond Island, where velocity was almost continuously above the normal for the season. This was more marked towards the end of the month, when daily average velocity was for several days over 20 miles an hour.

These strong winds in the east and the unsettled weather with rough sea in the south-west of the Bay show that squally weather was probably general over the south of the Bay and more continuous than usual.

Pressure.—The only depression which occurred during November was very slight. Its existence was shown more by the disturbed weather which it caused during the first week than by the pressure differences. The recovery of pressure which was brisk on the 3rd and 6th resulted in a considerable excess over the whole area, but greatest in Bengal Proper, and in consequence there was a steeper gradient over the Bay. This excess slowly increased till the 9th, after which a slow to moderate fall set in and by the 11th the distribution was again normal. From that date till the 16th a small defect was general and then excess again developed and continued up to the end of the month. The greatest excess during the month was ·16 inch in parts of Bengal on the 21st.

The average excess for the month was fairly uniform in different parts of the Province. It was about ·05 inch except in the west of North Bihar where it was less than ·04 inch.

The changes in the north of the bay throughout the month were similar to those at inland stations, though smaller in amount. In the south different conditions prevailed and more than one slight depression moved westward towards the Madras coast with squally weather and heavy rainfall accompanying them. These depressions were so shallow and the increase of wind force so slight that the name of storm is scarcely applicable to them.

Temperature—Was more generally below than above the normal during the month, but not by large amounts At the beginning of the month when weather was disturbed over Bengal a small excess was almost general, but after the recovery of pressure and the steeper gradient with northerly winds temperature began falling in the north. The change extended steadily southwards over the Bay between the 5th and 9th. On the latter date mean defect was 4° in Orissa, 2° in Bengal generally, and irregular in amount on the west coast, the greatest being 4° at Nellore. About the middle of the month there was generally a small excess in the western districts and a small defect in the east; and during the latter half general defect except towards the close when higher temperature prevailed with a mean excess of about 2°.

On an average for the month mean temperature was 1°·6 below the normal in Assam and about 1° in East Bengal. In the other divisions the variation was less than half a degree.

Rainfall.—Scattered showers fell during the first week, chiefly in the south-western districts and thereafter it was rainless except for a few very light showers in the Darjeeling hills about the middle of the month.

The total fall was a third of an inch on an average in Orissa, South-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur. In North and East Bengal and Bihar it was not more than a tenth of an inch.

As in November cyclonic storms occasionally move into the north of the Bay and from there northward or north-eastward into Bengal Proper and Assam, heavy rainfall occasionally occurs in the southern and eastern districts. The normal rainfall in November is most heavy in Orissa, 1·6 inches, in East Bengal it is 1 inch and in South-West Bengal ·6 inch. As no storm of any importance occurred during the past month the rainfall was everywhere below the normal, the greatest defect being 1·3 inches in East Bengal.

The following table gives in a condensed form the rainfall information for each of the six large meteorological divisions of Bengal for the present year up to the close of November. The numbers there given, as in the case of the former months of the year, are the actual average rainfalls in each division, expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the period, and the last column also gives the total rainfall up to the close of November, expressed in the same way:—

NOTIFICATION.

Oral Examination in the knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation prescribed in the case of Teachers of English and those who teach through the medium of English in Secondary Schools.

IN order to carry out a recommendation of the Simla Educational Conference of 1901 which was also approved by the Government of India, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has been pleased to direct that all new teachers to be appointed in future and who are to teach English or other subjects through the medium of English in Secondary Schools, whether managed directly by the Education Department and by the District Boards and Municipalities, or aided by the Department or such local bodies, must have passed an oral examination in English idiom and pronunciation and hold certificates to that effect. It is proposed to enforce this rule from 1st April 1903. Masters who will teach only through the vernaculars are exempted from this examination.

2. Teachers who are already in service and vernacular teachers hereafter to be appointed shall not in future be promoted to posts which involve teaching in English or through the medium of English until they have passed the examination now prescribed.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that managers of unaided Schools will co-operate heartily in the object which the Government has in view, namely, the improvement of the teaching of English in Secondary Schools.

4. Inspectors of Schools, Principals and Professors of Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University, and Principals of Training Colleges are authorised to hold this examination, provided that they themselves have been born in Great Britain and Ireland or in an English-speaking Colony and have been educated in the British Islands, or in any such British Colony. As there is no likelihood of the several offices referred to being always held by gentlemen possessing the qualifications specified, it is not possible to fix the various centres of the examination permanently, except in a few cases.

5. The Colleges and Offices below named are fixed as centres permanent for practical purposes, for holding the examination above prescribed, as in them European Officers of the Indian Educational Service appointed from England will ordinarily be available to conduct the Examination.

Calcutta.

Presidency College, Calcutta, European Principal and European Professors.
Calcutta Madrasa, ditto ditto.
Office of Inspector of European Schools, Bengal.

Patna.

Patna College, European Principal and European Professors.
Office of European Inspector of Schools, Patna Division.

Jalpaiguri.

Office of European Inspector of Schools, Rajshahi Division.

Dacca.

Dacca College, European Principal and European Professors.

Kurseong.

Victoria Training College, European Principal and European Teachers.

6. In addition to the above named officers, the Principals and Professors of aided and unaided Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University who possess the requisite qualifications, will be competent to hold the examination and their co-operation in the matter is cordially invited.

7. Only those persons who have passed the University Entrance examination, or one of the higher examinations of Indian Universities, the High School examination of European Schools, or the Final School examination which it is proposed shortly to introduce, will be eligible to appear at the new examination, and such candidates will be at liberty to apply to any one of the Officers named above with a view to being examined. Arrangements for examination to be held by the Educational Officers under Government mentioned above will be made at once. The examination will be held quarterly in March, June, September and December on such dates as may be fixed by the Officers who are authorised to conduct this examination.

8. The examination of each candidate probably need not take much time. A candidate should be required to read short passages from English prose and poetry and should be put to a colloquial test in two or three different subjects.

9. It has also been decided that for the first year of operation of this order candidates shall not be required to pay fees, and that the question of the remuneration of Examiners need not be considered until it has been ascertained how many persons present themselves for examination.

10. The certificate may be given in the following form, which should be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for countersignature :—

"Certified that _____, son of _____, of _____ Village in the district of _____, who has presented a certificate of having passed the _____ examination in the year _____, has appeared at an oral examination held at _____ on the _____ for the purpose of testing his knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation, and that in these respects the Examinee is, in the opinion of the undersigned, qualified to teach English in Secondary Schools in Bengal."

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M., of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale, noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaultors, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional to the extent of Rs. 400.

6. The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9. The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

12. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal receipts, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, Certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, Report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory for the year 1901-1902, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

2. The capital outlay on the Major Works in operation was Rs. 6,43,16,069* up to the end of March 1902. Their total length during the period under review remained the same, viz., 748 miles. Of this length, 495¼ miles were both for irrigation and navigation, 223¾ miles for irrigation only, and 29 miles for navigation only. There was an increase of 19½ miles in the total length of distributaries, which now stands at 2,634 miles. The total area irrigable at the end of the triennial period was 1,416,374 acres.

On the Protective Works in progress the capital outlay (direct charges) incurred during the period under review was Rs. 4,39,907. Their total length, as estimated, is 78½ miles, and the area irrigable 127,500 acres.

Paragraphs 3 to 22 below will deal with the four Major Works in operation, viz., the Orissa, Midnapore, Hijili Tidal and Sone Canals, while paragraphs 23 to 31 will treat of the canals classed as Minor Works only.

3. The average receipts of the canal systems from all sources during the triennial period were Rs. 17,98,015 against the average working expenses of Rs. 13,00,301, showing an average net revenue of Rs. 4,97,714. This was less than the average net revenue for the period ending March 1899 by Rs. 63,111, but greater than that of the average for the period ending March 1896 by Rs. 3,95,938. Notwithstanding that the average working expenses were reduced by Rs. 1,10,317, the smaller surplus was entirely owing to the greater diminution in navigation receipts, caused by the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur and the Mogulserai-Gaya Railways.

4. The capital outlay up to the end of the year 1901-1902 on each of the canal systems and the financial results during the period under review are shown in the following statement:—

In the table below the average financial results of the canals during the period under review are compared with those of the five previous periods :—

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | March 1902. | March 1899. | March 1896. | March 1893. | March 1890. | March 1887. |

The canals rather more than pay their working expenses, but the net revenue does not go far towards paying the interest charges; the financial results are, however, improving, and with the prospects of enhanced water-rates will continue to improve.

5. The following statement shows the average areas irrigated by the Orissa, Midnapore and Sone Canals during the triennial period under review and the two previous periods :—

There is very little rabi irrigation from the Orissa and Midnapore Canals. Of the average areas irrigated from the Sone Canals under kharif during the last nine years, the season leases only averaged 18 per cent. of the total, the balance of the area irrigated being under long lease for seven years.

The areas irrigated are increasing every year. This shows that the people in the districts commanded by the Sone Canals are realizing more and more the benefits of canal irrigation, which assures them a bumper crop in time of drought and an increased outturn in years of ordinary rainfall.

In the famine year of 1896-97 and in 1901-1902 it is estimated that not less than 33 and 35 lakhs of maunds of grain were added to the food-supply of Bihar by these canals.

6. The progress made in the collection of water-rates during the triennial period under review and the two previous triennia is exhibited in the following table:—

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

| Triennial average for the period ending March 1896. | 1,18,636 | 12,65,327 | 10,97,193 | 57,501 | 4,902 | 1,05,731 | 7,560 |

This table is instructive showing, as it does, that the very small outstanding balance at the end of the year continues to be one of the satisfactory features of the administration of these Canals. Excluding the sum of Rs. 6,141, which was uncollected in the Orissa Circle owing to a certain number of leases having been received late in March, the outstanding balance, out of a demand of Rs. 14,41,424, was only Rs. 787. This in itself is eminently satisfactory, but the decrease in the number of certificates and the small amount of irrecoverable items all clearly indicate, not only the excellent work done by the collecting establishment, but also the accuracy of the measurements made by the Canal Officers on which the demand statements are prepared.

7. The navigation receipts during the triennial period under review and the two previous periods are shown below:—

| Year. | Orissa Canals. | Midnapore Canal. | Hijili Tidal Canal. | Sone Canals. | Total. | Miles open. | Tollage per mile. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 |

| 1900-901 ... ... | 90,138 | 97,730 | 45,472 | 36,247 | 2,69,587 | 524¼ | 514 |
| 1901-1902 ... ... | 78,163 | 89,835 | 46,909 | 23,571 | 2,37,488 | 524¼ | 453 |
| Triennial average ... | 89,344 | 92,451 | 47,725 | 48,448 | 2,77,968 | 524¼ | 530 |
| Triennial average for the period ending March 1899. | 1,52,916 | 1,30,044 | 84,675 | 71,513 | 4,39,148 | 524¼ | 838 |
| Triennial average for the period ending March 1896. | 1,19,291 | 1,31,468 | 58,658 | 50,422 | 3,59,859 | 524¼ | 686 |

The above statement is interesting, but it is also disappointing as it brings to notice the very marked decrease of revenue under navigation.

In the previous triennial period, the average receipts were the highest on record, and were due, in a great measure, to the large quantities of building materials which were boated along the canals for the adjoining railways then under construction. It is the opening of these same railways to traffic, viz., the Bengal-Nagpur and Mogulsarai-Gaya Railways, which has caused this great loss of revenue from navigation.

The receipts in 1901-1902 were barely one-half of what they were in 1895-1896, and unfortunately they continue to show a steady decrease each year This is the more astonishing, as it has hitherto been an accepted fact that railways could never compete successfully with canals for the carriage of goods.

On the Sone canals the diminution of traffic is not surprising, as navigation never made much progress either in the Shahabad or Patna district. On the other canals, the results are very disappointing, inasmuch as, although it was foreseen that the pilgrim traffic to Puri would take to the railway, it was assumed that the canals would still retain the goods traffic. The whole question is under examination, and the Government of India will shortly be addressed on the subject.

8. The average miscellaneous revenue for the triennial period under review was Rs. 94,959 against the average of Rs. 92,010 during the previous period.

9. On the Orissa Canals the capital outlay incurred during the period under review amounted to Rs. 1,05,941. This sum was expended mainly on the construction of permanent outlets on distributaries, and on the Dudhai Canal.

10. The average receipts were Rs. 3,98,994, or Rs. 97,794 less than the average of the previous triennial period. The decrease took place under both water-rates and navigation. The falling off under navigation alone was more than Rs. 85,000. It was mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway and the consequent abolition of the transport service.

11. The average area irrigated was 201,955 acres, or 10,123 acres more than the average of the previous period. The increase took place under kharif.

12. The average working expenses during the last three years were Rs 4,51,297 against Rs. 5,10,292 and Rs. 4,97,064, the averages for the two previous triennial periods. The decrease in the working expenses was due to there being no heavy flood damage repairs since no high floods occurred in the rivers.

13. Notwithstanding the decrease in the working expenses, the net result was a deficit of Rs. 52,303 against a deficit of Rs. 13,504 in the previous period. This was due mainly to the compitition of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway already referred to.

14. On the Midnapore Canal there was a great reduction in the working expenses during the period under review. This was due partly to the absence of high floods in any of the rivers crossed by the canal, and partly to the withdrawal of the daily mail steamer service from 1st January 1901, owing to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. With the cessation of the steamer service it was no longer necessary to dredge the entrance channels to the locks, or to revet the canal banks, in order to protect them from the wash caused by the steamers.

There was some improvement in the collection of water-rates, the average having increased to Rs. 1,23,812 against the average of Rs. 1,09,360 in the previous period. The navigation receipts, however, showed a considerable falling off, the average for the triennial period under review being Rs. 92,451 against Rs. 1,30,044 and Rs. 1,31,468, the averages for the two previous periods. The cause of the great decrease has already been explained. The average net revenue for the period ending March 1902 was Rs. 17,465 in excess of that for the preceding period, and was in great measure due to the abolition of the steamer service whereby great savings were effected in the maintenance of the canal. The capital outlay incurred was Rs. 9,223, of which Rs 8,000 were expended on the purchase of an office and residence for the Executive Engineer, Cossye Division, and Rs. 1,223 on the construction of permanent outlets to improve the water distribution.

15. The area irrigated, which was mostly under kharif, increased from an average of 73,710 acres in the three years ending March 1896 to an average of 78,190 acres in the triennial period under review. The rabi irrigation is very small. The area under long-term leases in 1901-1902 was 81,784 acres. This exceeded the maximum area of 75,000 acres as laid down in the revised water-rate rules for the Midnapore Canal.

16. The number of certificates issued during the triennial period shows a marked improvement compared with the number issued during 1898-1899.

17. The traffic on the Hijili Tidal Canal suffered considerably owing to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. The average receipts from navigation decreased from Rs. 84,675 during the triennial period ending March 1899 to Rs 47,725 during the period under review, the result being a reduction in the average net revenue from Rs. 42,358 to Rs. 15,773. There was a slight improvement in the working expenses

18 On the Sone Canals Rs. 24,070 were spent on works chargeable to the Capital Account, but the net outlay shown in the accounts, owing to sales of plant, was a minus figure [Rs. (—) 18,833].

19. The receipts from all sources averaged Rs. 11,12,278 against Rs. 11,28,616, the average for the previous period. The decrease was mainly under navigation receipts, which fell from Rs. 87,999, the average for the triennial period ending March 1899, to Rs. 48,832, the average for the period under review. The decrease was mainly due to the opening and competition of the Mogulserai-Gaya Railway. The receipts from water-rates increased from Rs. 10,09,662, the average for the triennial period ending March 1899, to Rs. 10,26,459, the average for the period ending March 1902.

There was a slight improvement in the miscellaneous revenue.

20. The rainfall of the year 1899-1900, though above the average, on the whole was deficient and unseasonable during the kharif season. In the early part of October, during the hathiya, there was no rain, and none fell till the end of the month. In the rabi season the rainfall in January was very beneficial to the crop. The rainfall of the year 1900-1901, though below the average and much less than that in the previous year, was heavier during both the kharif and rabi seasons. The year 1901-1902 was one of very scant rainfall—in fact the lowest on record since 1877-1878. It was deficient in the kharif season, and consequently there was a brisk demand for canal water during the rice transplanting season and the hathiya as well. Very little rain fell during the rabi season, the result being that a much larger area was leased than is ordinarily the case.

21. The area irrigated during the year 1901-1902, viz., 557,494 acres was the maximum on record. It exceeded the previous maximum of 1896-1897 by 2,338 acres. The average area irrigated was 481,333 acres against 476,466 acres in the previous period. The increase took place mainly under kharif, while there was a decrease under rabi and hot-weather irrigation. Compared with the average for the period ending March 1896, the average for the period under review was better by 121,622 acres, a result which shows that the people do appreciate the benefits of canal irrigation. This is also proved by the fact that the area under long term leases has gradually increased, the average for the triennial period under review being 313,011 acres against 297,514 and 271,552 acres for the periods ending March 1899 and March 1896, respectively.

22. The working expenses averaged Rs. 6,04,804 or Rs. 3,146 less compared with the average of the previous period. The net result of the working of the triennial period under review was a profit of Rs. 5,07,474, which is equivalent to a percentage of 1·89 on the capital outlay.

23. The capital outlay (direct and indirect charges) on canals classed a Minor Works and Navigation was Rs. 2,86,724 during the period under review and Rs. 1,27,48,403* up to the end of this period. The average receipts and working expenses amounted to Rs. 6,05,205 and Rs. 4,98,763 respectively, the net revenue being Rs. 1,06,442 against Rs. 1,21,913, the average for the period ending March 1899.

The financial results of each of the canals during the triennial period and the capital expenditure to date are exhibited in the following table:—

| | Capital expenditure (direct and indirect)— | | Average receipts of the triennial period, less refunds. | Average expenditure of the triennial period, including indirect charges. | Average net increase of the triennial period. | Average net increase of the triennial periods ending— | |

* Includes the amount expended on the Tirhut and Damodar Projects.

24. The Calcutta and Eastern Canals are a series of navigable channels, partly natural and partly artificial, connecting Calcutta with the Eastern Districts of Bengal. The average receipts and working expenses amounted to Rs. 4,23,132 and Rs. 2,66,435, respectively, the result being a profit of Rs. 1,56,697 against Rs. 1,87,527 in the previous triennial period. The decrease was due to a falling off in the navigation receipts during the two years, 1900-1901 and 1901-1902. The average number of boats using the canals during the triennial period under review was 125,008 against 123,584 in the preceding period.

25. In order to provide a shorter and easier route for steamers during the rainy season, certain improvements of the Madaripore bhil route between the rivers Kumar and Madhumati from Khulna to Madaripore in the district of Faridpur were undertaken during the latter end of the year 1899-1900. The capital expenditure during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 was solely incurred on the improvement of this route. Three estimates for the project have been sanctioned to date. The first estimate was for a channel about 22 miles in length to connect the Kumar and Madhumati rivers. This has shortened the distance between Khulna and Madaripore by 89 miles. The second estimate was for widening the route, and the third for deepening it by two feet throughout, for the purpose of allowing steamers and flats drawing six feet of water to use the route during the jute season only between August and September. Works in connection with the first estimate have been completed; those for widening and deepening the route are in progress. The question of still further improving the channel so as to make it navigable throughout the year is under consideration.

26. The Orissa Coast Canal is a continuation of the Hijili Tidal Canal and is for navigation purposes only. The average receipts for the triennial period under review amounted to Rs. 48,896 against Rs. 81,562 in the preceding period. This great falling off is mainly due to (1) the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway to which most of the rice and other goods traffic have been diverted owing to the very low rates charged by the Railway, and (2) the consequent withdrawal by the steamer companies of their steamers since February 1900. The working expenses, however, were much reduced during the last two years, and the average for the triennial period under review showed a decrease of Rs. 9,674 compared with the average for the preceding period. The financial results are far from satisfactory, the average net revenue being a deficit of Rs. 18,469 against a profit of Rs. 4,523 in the preceding triennial period.

27. The Saran Canals practically remained closed during the past three years. They were opened for a short time only during the kharif and rabi seasons of the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 owing to the great demand for water caused by the scanty rainfall in the district commanded by them. The water was given free of charge at the request of the Collector and under the sanction of Government.

28. The work in the Nadia Rivers consists of the improvement and maintenance of the main offshoots from the Ganges, viz., the Bhagirathi, Bhairub, Julangi, and Mathabhanga rivers. These rivers have been steadily losing their position as a great trade route to Calcutta, and with the prospect of increased railway competition it is probable that they will still further decline in importance. It is intended to improve the head of the Bhagirathi by means of a powerful suction dredger with the object of rendering the river navigable for a longer time during the cold-weather months, but, until the experiment is made, it would be futile to attempt to predict what the result will be. The receipts averaged Rs. 99,263 during the triennial period under review against Rs. 90,644 in the preceding period. Compared with the average for the period ending March 1896 the receipts show a falling off of Rs. 45,069. The average working expenses for the two periods were Rs. 1,17,345 and Rs. 1,13,033 respectively, so that the net revenue was a deficit of Rs. 18,082 for the period ending March 1902 compared with a deficit of Rs. 22,389 in the preceding period. For the triennial period ending March 1893 the average profit was Rs. 28,432. This steady decline in revenue is due to the deterioration of the rivers and also to the competition of the railways.

29. The Gaighata and Buxi Khal was maintained during the triennial period at an average cost of Rs. 235. The lease of the right to collect tolls expired at the close of the year 1900-1901. It was renewed for another five years on the original term, viz., Rs. 4,500 per annum.

30. The Eden Canal was worked during the triennial period at a smaller loss than usual. The average receipts were Rs. 27,653 against Rs. 33,698 in the preceding triennial period. The working expenses amounted to Rs. 38,256 against Rs. 71,624, the net result being a reduction in the average deficit from Rs. 37,926 to Rs. 10,603, which was entirely due to the fact that there was no expenditure on original works.

The area irrigated during the triennial period averaged 27,494 acres against 25,179 acres, the average of the preceding period.

31. The average area irrigated from the Madhuban Canal was 3,128 acres against 5,480 acres in the previous period. The average outlay incurred for maintaining the canal was Rs. 5,805 against Rs. 7,277 in the previous period. No charge is made for water given for irrigation from the canal.

32. An abstract of the result of the experiments made on "average" rice crops in the irrigated and unirrigated lands and the value of the outturn per acre during the triennial period under review is given below:—

* Rice = ⅓rds of paddy.

In 1901-1902 the rainfall in the month of October was scanty, so that where canal irrigation was not available the rice crop was below an average crop. If the differences in value for that year are compared, it is seen that the increased value of the outturn of crops due to irrigation was Rs. 10 from the Orissa Canals, Rs. 15 from the Sone Canals, Rs. 13 from the Midnapore Canal and Rs. 23 from the Eden Canal. The great difference of value on the Eden Canal is due to the high price obtained for straw in the Hooghly district.

33. The Irrigation Department of this Province was in charge of Mr. R. B. Buckley, C.S.I., Chief Engineer, during the triennial period under review. He has since retired from the Public Works Department having served in it for 32 years. The Lieutenant-Governor has recorded his appreciation of the work done by Mr. Buckley in the Calcutta Gazette of the 5th March 1902.

The Superintending Engineers, Mr. Inglis, Mr. Lees, Mr. Toogood and Mr. Butler were in charge of the four Irrigation Circles. The Lieutenant-Governor acknowledges the efficiency of their services. The large reduction in the expenditure on repairs during the last three years in the Midnapore Canal is due to the able management of Mr. C. A. White, Executive Engineer.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the Chief Engineer's note be submitted to the Government of India, in the Public Works Department, and published in the Calcutta Gazette; also that it be circulated to other Governments and to all Governments and to all Departments and officers of this Government as usual.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

D. B. HORN,

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE REPORT.

Note by D. B. Horn Esqr., Chief Engineer, on the Canal Revenue Reports of Bengal for the triennial period ending 31st March 1902.

THIS is the first triennial revenue report prepared in accordance with the orders of the Government of India, conveyed in their Resolution No. 670C.W.I., dated the 6th June 1901. The tables introduced by the Chief Engineer for the preparation of the report were approved by the Government of India in their letter No. 1136C.W.I., dated the 2nd October 1901.

Previous to the year 1899-1900 two annual reports were prepared in the Irrigation Department—one being the Irrigation Chapter of the Administration Report and the other the Canal Revenue Report. With a view to reducing the number and bulk of the Revenue Reports on Irrigation Works, and facilitating their earlier submission, the Inspector General of Irrigation in a note, dated the 18th June 1900, recommended—

(1) that the Annual Revenue Report should consist of a brief administration report, together with the statistical statements of irrigation works prescribed by the Secretary of State, and the administrative accounts of irrigation works,

(2) that other statistical information relating to the working of the canals, of which it may be important to maintain a permanent and continuous record, should be embodied in a triennial report, in which the results attained in successive periods on the different systems may be brought into effective comparison.

These recommendations were accepted by the Government of India, and only one annual report is being issued since 1899-1900 in place of two annual reports.

2. The canals in Bengal are for irrigation and navigation purposes and they are divided into two classes, viz.—Major Irrigation Works, and Minor Works and Navigation.

The Major Irrigation Works are—

The Orissa canals.
,, Midnapore canal.
,, Hijili Tidal canal.

The Sone canals.
,, Triboni canal.
,, Dhaka canal.

and the Minor Works and Navigation are—

The Calcutta and Eastern canals.
,, Orissa Coast canal.
,, Saran canals.
,, Nadia rivers.
,, Gaighatta and Buxi khals.

The Eden canal.
,, Madhuban canal.
,, Tirhut project.
,, Damodar project.

The Orissa, Midnapore and Sone canals are both for irrigation and navigation, while the Hijili Tidal canal is for navigation only.

The Tribeni and Dhaka canals are for irrigation only. They were sanctioned in the year 1900-01 and are now under construction. Under Minor Works, the Calcutta and Eastern canals, Orissa Coast canal, Nadia rivers and Gaighatta and Buxi khal are for navigation only, and the Saran canals, Eden Canal and Madhuban canal are for irrigation. The Tirhut project was designed for irrigation and the Damodar project for navigation. After some expenditure had been incurred, mostly on preliminary operations, it was considered advisable by Government to close the construction estimates of both projects.

The work on the Tirhut project has, therefore, been kept in abeyance since 1877-78, and that on the Damodar project was abandoned in 1871-72.

3. The Capital Account and financial results of the canals classed as Major Irrigation Works in operation up to end of the year 1901-1902 are shown in the following statements:—

The construction estimate of these canals is closed. The outlay during the triennial period under review, chargeable to the open Capital Account under the head 43—Minor Works and Navigation Provincial, was incurred mainly on the construction of permanent outlets, minor distributaries and drainage works. On the construction of the Dudhai Canal in the Cuttack District, an estimate for which amounting to Rs. 81,797 was sanctioned by the Government of India in October 1901 chargeable under the same head, Rs. 16,392 were expended during the year 1901-1902. The work is in progress.

There was no change in the lengths of the main and branch canals during the triennial period. In distributaries there was an increase of 31½ miles, owing to the construction of several minor channels. The increased length will supply water to lands not previously leased.

The permanent outlets increased from 559 to 2,723 and the temporary outlets decreased from 5,601 to 4,747. The drainage channels increased by 11 miles. In the area under command an addition of 914 acres was made in the year 1900-1901.

There was a considerable decrease in navigation receipts owing mainly to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway and the consequent withdrawal of the Government transport service. The working expenses, however, showed a considerable falling off during the triennial period compared with the previous periods ending March 1896 and 1899. The decrease was mainly due to the absence of high floods in the rivers.

The rainfall during the year 1901-1902 was considerably less than that of the previous year and the average of 18 years. It was, however, well distributed in the Cuttack District but not so in the Balasore District, which led to the wholesale renewal of leases of the large area which lapsed on the 31st March 1901 on the High Level Canal, Range III. The average rainfall recorded at nine stations in the Central Provinces, from which area of country the Mahanadi river derives the greater part of its supply, was 41·65 inches in 1901-1902, 68·0[illegible] inches in 1900-1901, and 37·66 inches in 1899-1900.

The area under long term lease practically remained stationary during the triennial period. This area was however, considerably more than the averages of the triennial periods ending March 1896 and 1899. In 1901-02, 343 acres of kharif were irrigated in an unauthorized manner, and the amount Rs. 816 assessed for it was realized in full. There was no sale of water by volume for irrigation purposes during the period under review.

In the Mahanadi Division nearly one-half of the lapsed leases has not been renewed. The greater portion of this area is under the new distributaries of the Taldunda and Machgong Canals. The land being low canal water is not required except in a year of drought. There was rain in the critical time in October, and no fresh lease was applied for. In the Brahmini-Byturni and Akhoyapada-Jajpur Divisions much larger areas than those lapsed were secured.

During the rabi and hot weather the supply to the canals is regulated according to requirements for navigation, and it is difficult to say what volume is utilized for the small irrigation carried on in these seasons.

* Receives water through leakage.

† Rabi irrigation in this canal is done through natural channels without outlets.

A "good" crop is one decidedly above the ordinary crop in the village in which the experiment is taken.
An "average" crop is one considered a fair average of the whole crop in the village in which the experiment is taken.

In previous year the weight of rice, i. e., husked grain used to be shown as ⅔ of paddy.
To convert those quantities into paddy add 50 per cent. of the outturn shown as rice.

The following supplementary table shows the average outturn from irrigated and unirrigated lands as well as the prices realized by the cultivators during the two preceding triennial periods vide Government of India's letter No. 1136 C. W. I., dated 2nd October 1901 :—

The apparent falling off in the current demand during the year 1901-02 is attributable to the fact that some provisional leases, the assessment for which amounted to Rs. 14,943 were not completed during the year. It also excludes Rs. 13,142, for which leases were received by the Deputy Collector between the 26th and 31st March, so that receipts could not be written up and issued before the end of the year. Including these two amounts the assessment of the year amounted to Rs. 2,73,319. The total demand brought to account was collected with the exception of Rs. 6,141, for which leases were received by the Deputy Collector towards the close of March. The average collections during the triennial period under review were Rs. 13,351 less than the realization in the preceding period and Rs. 55,365 more than was realized during the period ending March 1896. The decrease in the number of certificates issued is satisfactory. Of the 305 certificates issued during the year 1901-02, 297 were satisfied, one was struck off and 7 were pending at the end of the year. The amount involved was Rs. 3,669 or on an average of Rs. 12 per certificate.

(a) Including tollage on Government traffic.
(b) Tollage on private traffic only.
In both cases the Transport Service and hire of boats have been excluded.

Compared with the period ending March 1899, the receipts for the period under review fell by 41·6 per cent. This decrease was due to (1) the abolition of the Transport Service ; (2) the permanent opening of the Bengal Nagpur Railway in 1899-1900 ; and (3) less Railway materials having been sent by the Canals and less rice for export.

Water is now supplied to the Railway Station at Jenapur and receipts from this source are likely to increase.

These has been a satisfactory increase in the receipts from "plantations" due to renewal of leases and better administration.

The receipts from "Cost of process" diminished as there has been a satisfactory decrease in the number of certificates issued.

The floods in the rivers during the triennial period under review were moderate to low, except in 1900, when the Byturni river rose to within 0·60 of the recorded flood. In 1901 the Brahmini rose to 2-40 ft. below the highest recorded flood. Very little damage was done to Government works by the floods of the last three years.

There has been diminished expenditure under all heads, except "Extensions and Improvements," under which several minor distributaries, some permanent outlets, several quarters and office buildings for the revenue subordinates were constructed.

The decrease under the heads "Head Works and Main Canal" is due to less damage done by floods. The expenditure under "Distributaries" practically remained the same as in the two preceding periods, while under "Drainage and Protective Works" there was less expenditure than that incurred during the preceding triennial period. The transport service was abolished during 1900-1901, which accounts for the diminished expenditure under that head.

The first reach of the Taldanda Canal was heavily silted up, specially in the first three miles. Forty-six and-a-quarter lakhs of cubic feet of silt were removed, which accounts for the excess expenditure of the year.

The general average cost of maintenance was considerably less than in the preceding triennial period, a result which is due to the absence of any extraordinary floods in the rivers.

Mr. Barlow reports as follows on flushing and scouring Lock entrances of the Kendrapara Canal, &c., during the years 1899-1900, 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 :—

"The lock entrances at Jumbu and Alba silt up yearly towards the end of the rains, and except at high tide there is not enough water to pass steamers and boats. The silt deposited is cleared partly by hand at low tides and partly by tying up a deeply laden iron boat across the Channels and scouring under it by opening the lock valves, &c. This can only be done when there is a good head, viz., when the water in the river is low.

"To avoid silting in the first reach as far as practicable full supply is run down continuously during the rains, and any excess water not required for irrigation purposes, is run off through the escapes. This has been found to be most successful since the channel has been remodelled and only excavated to the minimum section required. After the floods are over and even after the irrigation is over, full supply is kept running whenever a bar of silt deposits near the head, and it has been found that this deposit is always moved down and generally more or lees dispersed.

"As regards Alba—In 1899 scouring was done by boat—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| During October | ... | ... 7 days. |
| „ November | ... | ... 7 „ |
| „ December | ... | ... 4 „ |

"In 1900 scouring was done by boat—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| During October | ... | ... 9 days. |
| „ November | .. | ... 10 „ |
| „ December | ... | ... 3 „ |
| „ January | ... | ... 10 „ } This was necessitated owing to |
| „ February | ... | ... 12 „ } slight flood and fresh silt deposit. |

"In 1901 scouring was done by boat—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| During October | ... | ... 4 days. |
| „ November | ... | ... 6 „ |
| „ December | ... | ... 9 „ |
| „ January | ... | ... 2 „ |

"The result was slow but fairly sure, and each period of working improved the channel though sometimes silt would again deposit. As regards the Pattamoondi Canal, scouring is not required at present as the channel is still in excess of requirements."

For the High Level Canal the first portion of the channel has been contracted in width by throwing excavated silt on the sides of the channel and turfing the same. The Executive Engineer remarks : "The contraction of the channel has been effective in reducing the sand deposit in the entrance channel, but at the same time it has been the cause of heading up the water so much so that hardly 4 inches of head could be obtained in this irrigation season. Hence supply of more than 500c. ft., which is the requirement for irrigation, can hardly be got into the Canal for the purpose of escape in scouring the silt. The contracted state of the channel at the entrance has reduced silt deposit and will further reduce. Any silt brought in will be taken down the Cannal where the section is wide enough."

The following extracts are from a note by Mr. Arnott, Executive Engineer, on the Taldanda Canal. "In the irrigation season of 1900 there was great difficulty in getting sufficient water down the first reach of the canal owing to the silted up state of the first three miles. It was settled to lower the bed of the canal by 3 inches from Jobra to Biribati, and to reduce the width of the channel below the head sluice by depositing the excavated sand from the bed on to the sides until it was above full supply line. The canal was kept running full for the whole season and whether owing to the low state of the river or to the flush which a full supply gives, tending to send the silt down to the lower reaches, the first 3 miles of the Taldanda canal after the irrigation season of 1901 were remakably free from silt. Mr. Arnott is of opinion that this was due to the flushing maintained during the season, and he considers that if his suggestions to cut down the weirs were adopted, a still further 'draw' to the water would be given."

The average expenditure incurred during the triennial period under review in clearing silt from the Taldanda Canal is more than three times as large as in the preceding period, the reasons for which are explained above.

During 1900-1901, 41⅓ lakhs of silt were removed from the 1st reach of the Kendrapara Canal, which was choked with it. The sill of the first weir was lowered, so that full discharge can be passed through the reach with less than full depth of water in the canal.

Very little silt is cleared from the other canals, and no special remarks are called for in respect to them. The general average expenditure for the period under review was Rs. 4,000 in excess of the previous one.

Under the head 'dredging' the expenditure on the Taldanda Canal was practically the same as in the previous three years, while there was a satisfactory decrease under all other canals.

The construction estimate of this canal was closed on 31st March 1899. The sum of Rs. 8,000 spent in 1899-1900 represents half cost of the purchase of the Executive Engineer's office and residence at Midnapore. The expenditure incurred during the year 1901-1902 was on account of constructing permanent outlets to improve the water distribution.

There was no change in the lengths of navigable channels and distributaries during the triennial period. There was an increase of 0·37 miles in the length of village channels owing to the construction of Madhpur village channel. The number of permanent, as compared with the number of temporary outlets, is still very small, but it has not been considered desirable or necessary to incur the great expense of making all the outlets permanent, and it was decided to take in hand only the more important ones at the heads of distributaries. The construction of 48 of these outlets at an estimated cost of Rs. 5,682 was begun in 1901-1902, and the work is still in progress. On the whole, the canal may be considered to be fairly well equipped for the distribution of water.

The reduction in the average receipts for the triennial period under review compared with those of the two previous periods is mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway which has tapped the canal traffic and caused the withdrawal of the Steamer Service by the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company. There was however a considerable falling off in the working expenses. The reduction has been mainly effected under the head Maintenance and Repairs, as owing to the cessation of the Steamer Services no extensive silt clearance and revetting of canal banks, &c., were required. In consequence of the great reduction effected in the working expenses the net revenue increased from (—) Rs. 43,7. in 1899-1900 and Rs. 60,971 in 1900-1901 to Rs. 69,069 in 1901-1902 notwithstanding the great decre in navigation receipts. The result is highly satisfactory.

During each of the past three years the rainfall in the Kharif season was well up to or above the normal. In October 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 there was a marked deficiency which created a strong demand for Canal water.

Nearly the whole of the irrigation during the year 1901-02 was carried out under the system of long-term leases. The area irrigated exceeded the limit which was formerly laid down as the maximum for which long leases should be granted. The area under season leases was very small.

The areas of new leases entered into during the year 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 exceeded those of the lapsed leases, and this circumstance may be accepted as evidence of the popularity of canal water.

The Superintending Engineer writes : "The duty of water on a canal which for the most part merely supplements the rainfall cannot be very accurately gauged, and the figures given have not much value. Mr. White, in replying to questions put by the Irrigation Commission, gives some interesting information regarding the duty during months of greatest pressure. The instances which he records give duties varying from 120 to 220 acres, and he considers that a duty of 160 acres represents the average during times of pressure."

N.B.—¼rd deducted from the weight of paddy to arrive at the quantity of rice. The Executive Engineer, however, found ⅛th husk from actual experiment in the year 1900-1901.

The average value of the outturn for the triennial period under review and the two previous triennial are :—

The high value of the outturn in 1901-1902, as compared with that in the two previous years, was due to the high price of rice in 1901-1902.

The Superintending Engineer writes :—

"Item 1.—The opening balance for the triennial period ending March 1902, was less than that of the first and second. This was due to the Deputy Collector being vested with the powers of Certificate Collector. The rate-payers have learn by experience that the non-payment of their dues within the prescribed time is followed by the prompt filing of certificates against them, and the issue of processes for distraint, and that this puts them to trouble and expense.

Item 2.—The increase was due to a larger area irrigated during the triennial period ending 31st March 1902.

Item 4.—The average remission granted during the triennial period ending March 1902 was less than that of the first and second. This was due to correct assessment having been made after test and re-test of the maps of the villages under lease.

Item 14.—The investment of certificate power to the Deputy Collector in charge of the Canal Revenue Division Midnapore, has been followed by a gradual reduction in the number of certificates.

The Superintending Engineer states :—

"The increase in the cost of establishment under Engineers during the triennial period under review (which includes patrols only) is due to an increase in their number from 16 to 24. Their wages have also had to be raised from Rs. 6 to Rs. 7 and Rs 8. The additional outlay has resulted in greater efficiency.

The falling off in navigation receipts during the triennial period under review is mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway which has monopolized the transport of timber. The passenger traffic has also considerably decreased.

The revenue during the year 1901-1902 was much greater than that for the two preceding years. This was due to the increase in the sale proceeds of the Koyalighats which rose from Rs. 583 in 1900-1901 to Rs. 4,698 in 1901-1902.

There was a very satisfactory reduction in the maintenance charges per mile of both Main Canal and Distributaries. The rate for the Main Canal was brought down from Rs. 2,416 in 1899-1900 to Rs. 1,094 in 1901-1902, and that for the distributaries from Rs. 109 to Rs. 31 ; the rates are probably as low as can be expected in the future.

There was great reduction in the quantity of silt dredged during the triennial period under review as, on account of the discontinuance of the mail steamer service, the tidal entrances had not to be dredged as low as before. The tidal reach between Kultapara and Kantapookur was closed for silt clearance in 1899-1900, which explain the large expenditure incurred during that year in silt clearance.

The receipts have decreased considerably, owing to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. The working expenses, however, show a gradual reduction from Rs. 45,061 in 1899-1900, to Rs. 29,955, in 1901-1902. On account of the reduction effected in the working expenses the net revenue has increased from Rs. 8,076 in 1899-1900 and Rs. 15,272 in 1900-1901 to Rs 17,970 in 1901-1902.

The decrease in the tollage receipts is mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway in 1899, which diverted the traffic and caused the companies to discontinue their steamer services.

The floods during the year 1901-1902 were higher than those of the previous two years, but they did no damage tothe canal. The heavy local rain in July and August of the year 1900-1901, however, flooded considerable tracts of low-lying rice lands, but good crops were eventually secured, as the lands were drained in time to allow of new seedlings being planted.

There was considerable decrease in maintenance and repairs of the main canal during 1901-1902, compared with the two previous years and averages of the two triennial periods ending March 1896 and 1899. The principal item of expenditure was silt clearance by dredging. The expenditure on the working of steamers during 1900-1901 was, however, slightly in excess of the year 1900-1901.

During the triennial period under review, two dredgers, viz., Marchant No. III and Bruce No. II, were at work in Ranges I and II of the Canal. The average quantity dredged during the period was 1,129,914 c. ft., at a cost of Rs. 8,220, as compared with 628,317 c. ft. dredged during the period ending March 1899, at a cost of Rs. 5,871. The increased expenditure was mainly due to the silt-clearance of Range I parallel to the supply channel, and of the supply channel itself at Gewankhali, where a large accumulation of silt had taken place.

The construction estimate of these canals is closed. During the triennial period under review a sum of Rs. 21,070 for works only was spent as chargeable to the open Capital account under 43—Minor works and navigation. The following were the principal works constructed: A gangway to the Dehri headsluices for working the kurries and shutters; alterations to the Kao syphon to enable it to be utilised as an escape during the kharif season; an additional escape to the Bhojepur distributary, an escape channel to the Katherain distributary and a number of permanent outlets for village channels.

There were no changes in the lengths of the main and branch Canals. In distributaries there was a decrease of 12 miles due to the abandonment of a portion of the Emamganj distributary taking off the Patna Canal. The mileage of village channels increased from 2,981 miles 3,001 feet to 3,114 miles and 4,673 feet at the end of March 1902. The number of permanent outlets increased from 3,596 to 4,206, while the temporary outlets decreased from 2,095 to 1,880. The gross area under command remained the same

In the following supplementary tables are given the details of the lengths, &c. of the channels by Divisions at the close of the triennial period under review:—

The receipts from water-rates and miscellaneous revenue show a steady increase during the period under review, whereas navigation receipts have decreased by almost fifty per cent. owing to the opening of the Mogulsarai-Gaya Railway. The average cost of maintaining the canals has remained almost stationary, so that the net financial result is slightly lower than that of the previous triennial period.

55. The interest charges for and up to the end of the triennial period are given below :—

In the year 1899-1900 the rainfall of the year although above the average, was deficient and unseasonable during the kharif season. In June and July there was heavy rainfall. In August the season for the transplantation of rice, the rainfall decreased and was irregularly distributed. In September the falls were very light, and the rain practically ceased about the middle of the month. In the early part of October during the hathiya there was no rain, and none fell till almost the end of the month. In the rabi season the rainfall in January was very beneficial to the crop.

In the year 1900-1901 the rainfall, though below the average and much less than that of the previous year, was heavier during both the kharif and rabi seasons. In August during the transplanting period for rice it was deficient and there was, consequently, a great demand for canal water. The rainfall during the hathiya was heavy. The excessive fall during the rabi season did much damage to the crop.

The year 1901-1902 was one of very scant rainfall—in fact the lowest on record since 1877-78. Owing to deficiency of rainfall in the kharif season, there was a brisk demand for canal water during the rice transplanting season and also in the hathiya. Very little rain fell during the rabi season, with the result that a very much large area was irrigated than usual.

The following supplementary table shows the rainfall during the "Hathia Nachatra," and for the succeeding ten days since 1888; it is based on the 22 stations mentioned in subsidiary form IV E(a):—

The former rate for long leases was Rs. 2 per acre. The existing rate, which was introduced from 1st April 1897 and which will remain in force up to the end of March 1903, is Rs. 2·8 per acre.

To show the popularity of these long leases, and the eagerness of the people for canal irrigation, the areas applied for and refused in each Division during the triennial period under review are entered in the following table :—

On this question of the renewal of leases the Executive Engineer, Arrah Divison, writes as follows :—"The canals are now practically leased up to their limit, and any new lease can only be taken if it is very favourably situated. Additions are possible, however, by reducing the amount of water given to the lease by taking a higher duty or adding to existing blocks without increasing the size of the outlet, and it is chiefly by these means that the increase in the area has been attained, and in a few years will be the only way of extending the area."

The favourable Hathia rain in 1900 caused a reduction in that year. The increase in the other two years was due to the fact that there was no rain during the Hathia. The Executive Engineer, Arrah Division, notes:—

"If unauthorized irrigation is to be stopped at all, it can only be done by imposing such a rate as will make the cultivator understand that it will be no benefit to him to take water without authority, even though by so doing he may save his crop and get a fair outturn."

The Superintending Engineer agrees with this, and recommends that the rate should be deterrent. The Chief Engineer, however, does not share this opinion. The average area irrigated but not assessed during the past three years was 4,418 acres. This is not a large area when it is remembered how many long leases there are and the facilities which the villagers have of passing water on to the unleased fields. There can be only one solution of this difficulty and that is for the Canal Officers to see that leases are only granted where the boundaries are suitable and that the outlets are carefully proportioned to the areas leased.

59. The assessments under wastage of water were:—

For purposes of irrigation wastage occurs principally in the hot-weather season, when aharas are filled in order to supply water for cattle.

The great demand for water in 1901-02 was owing to the failure of the hathia rain. Fortunately the supply in the river was ample, otherwise so large an area could not have been irrigated—

The Superintending Engineer writes:—

"The kharif duty in the last two triennial periods is less than that in the preceding three years. This is due to the introduction of the flushing system. It is calculated on the gross discharge entering the Canals and is of no practical value, as discharges in excess of requirements are run as frequently as the state of the river permits for flushing out the silt deposited at the head of the Canals.

"On the assumption that the whole kharif area was irrigated during the ten days of maximum demand, or 'period of pressure,' generally between the 5th and 14th October, the duty during the period under review is given in the statement following:—

| Canal System. | 1899-1900. | | | 1900-1901. | | | 1901-1902. | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Area irrigated Kharif. | Average discharge from 5th to 14th October 1899. | Duty per cubic foot of discharge. | Area irrigated Kharif. | Average discharge from 18th to 27th October 1900. | Duty per cubic foot of discharge. | Area irrigated Kharif. | Average discharge from 5th to 14th October. 1901. | Duty per cubic foot of discharge. |

"It has been the practice for the last five years to commence increasing the Canal discharges about the beginning of October, so as to have everything in order and a full supply ready to meet a heavy 'hathiya' demand, should rain fail during that period. The higher duty obtained in 1899-1900, was due to the cultivators being compelled, owing to the short supply in river, to economise water as much as possible.

"In the early part of October 1901, owing to high floods in the river the Canals had to be closed. Consequently in 1900-1901 the period of pressure has been taken between the 18th and 27th of that month.

* * * * * *

"The duty during the rabi season increases with the increase of area irrigated It is often vitiated by flushes being run in January and February, when the river is in flood, with a view to killing weeds in the Canals.

"The Executive Engineer of the Arrah Division repeats the table which has now been given for some years, showing the aggregate depth of water placed at the rice-fields, on the hypothesis that the entire 'utilised' discharge of the Canal reached the fields. The figures take cognizance of the months July to October inclusive, thus:—

The Superintending Engineer remarks:—

"The increase in the number of complaints pending at the end of the triennial period is said to be due to the larger area of rabi irrigated in 1901-1902 and the extra work thrown on the staff whereby they could not investigate all the complaints before the close of the year, the areas over which the complaints were distributed being very large."

TABLE XV.—CLASSIFICATION OF COMPLAINTS.

Out of this large number of complaints only 25 were appealed to the Collector during the period under review, of which three were allowed and the rest dismissed.

65. The statement below gives details of "certificate cases" for the three years under review:—

| Year. | Cases instituted including those pending from previous year. | | Disposed of during the year. | | Pending at close of the year. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Number. | Amount | Number. | Amount. | Number. | Amount. |
| 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
| | | Rs. | | Rs. | | Rs. |
| 1899-1900 ... | 352 | 5,354 | 352 | 5,354 | Nil. | Nil. |

| 1901-1902 ... | 220 | 3.210 | 219 | 3,197 | 1 | 13 |

The gradual reduction in the number of cases, considering the increase of the demand, is a most satisfactory feature as shewing the greater readiness of the cultivators to pay without enforcement.

Only one "Magisterial case" was instituted during the triennial period and it was discharged.

There has been a considerable falling off in the receipts from navigation owing to the opening and competition of the Mogul-Serai-Gaya Railway.

The Steamer service on the Sone Canals continued to be worked by Messrs. Radford and Company.

The following Table shows the extent of the steamer-traffic worked by them for the years 1901-1902 and 1898-1899 :—

The falling off in the passenger traffic was considerable, so much so that on the Buxar Canal the Company had to discontinue the service from January 1901.

On a representation of the Company that the returns from the Patna and Arrah Canals were not sufficiently renumerative, a concession in the matter of tollage was made to them.

A lease for a term of three years at Rs. 1,200 per anuum having been granted for the Nasriganj turbine in 1900-1901, the receipts under water-power have increased during the last two years. There has also been a satisfactory increase in the rents obtained from canal lands.

The R. L. of the crest of the Sone weir is 334·00 and the floors of the under sluices and head-sluices 326·00.

The floods of the year 1899-1900 were very low, owing to the scant rainfall in the Sone basin. They were on a par with those of 1880, though not so low as those of 1883. The Superintending Engineer writes:—

"The floods in the Sone in 1900-1901 were more continuous and of longer duration than in the preceding three or four years. The first flood occurred on the 15th June.* * * The next high flood was not until the 14th July.* *

"In 1901-1902 the advent of the first of the Sone floods occurred rather late. It was not until the 12th July that 30 of the under-sluice shutters fell. * * This flood lasted but 6 days. The succeeding floods occurred on the 25th July, 16th and 24th August, the latter continuing up to 13th September, the maximum level, R. L. 341·40, on the Dehri gauge being reached on the 4th September. This is the highest recorded flood since 7th July 1876, when the Dehri gauge registered 342·10. * * * The only damage done to the Head-works by this extraordinary high flood was a small pooling below the centre sluices of the weir, and the packing in front being displaced and thrown on the apron. In its course lower down the flood breached the Koolwar Distributary and the Arrah Canal in the 56th and 57th miles on the left bank of the river. On the right bank the Patna Canal, 41st mile, was cut by villagers to drain off impounded water, and the Manair Distributary breached between 20th mile and end on the right bank The level reached by the flood at Lock XI of the Arrah Canal, viz., R. L. 192·60, was 1·16 feet higher than the previously recorded maximum, which occurred in 1888. The River Gauges at Buxar rose higher in this year than in the two preceeding years, but at this station did not exceed the maximum. At Digha, however, the flood of 5th September reached R. L. 169·83, which is the highest ever observed, the former maximum being R. L. 169·58 on 14th August 1879."

The expenditure under "Extensions and Improvements" was principally incurred in constructing regulators in distributaries; also a large number of permanent outlets, and several bridges, syphons and culverts connected with village channels.

The great reduction shown during the triennial periods ending March 1899 and 1902 over the triennial period ending March 1896 is due to the introduction of the flushing system.

The Superintending Engineer writes—

"The increases in the quantities cleared by hand in 1900-1901 were due to the silt removed during the closures of the Eastern Main series, portion of the Western Main Canal; below regulator in 6th mile and the Buxar Canal. Silt was excavated in the Eastern Main at the head-lock channel which silts very heavily, also at the bifurcation of the Patna Canal; in the Patna Canal above and below the locks; in the Western Main Canal in miles 13th to 15th below the off-take of the Buxar Canal, in the Buxar Canal above and below locks and Nokha Dock; in the distributaries of the Arrah and Buxar Divisions, where found necessary. These hand clearances, however, caused a reduction in the quantities dredged in these canals. Dredging, however, is necessary at bifurcation of canals and lock channels, which silt up in the flood season, to keep them open for navigation. In the 53rd and 54th miles of the Arrah Canal, where the high banks have a tendency to slip in, dredging had to be resorted to by working the English dredgers with shoots on to the bank, in the first 2 years of the period under review. As the level of the river Sone was able to be maintained at a sufficient height for the very small amount of traffic that now crosses it, less dredging has annually been necessary."

The Capital cost of the dredging plant now on the Sone canals is given below :—

74. The following figures give the cost of weed-clearing for the last three triennial periods:—

| Total ... | 3,359 | 874 | 96 | 91 | 18 | 69 |

The reduction in the cost of weed clearing is thus explained by Superintending Engineer :—

"The expenditure incurred was only for clearing silt where the discharge observations are taken in the Main Western and Arrah Canals. The system of running larger discharges than what are actually necessary during the cold season and increasing the surface slope, and also taking advantage of any small flood that may occur in the river in January or February to let in a good supply of muddy water, has been most effective in keeping down the weeds."

The expenditure incurred during the year 1899-1900 was mainly for completing the works in connection with the canalization of the Bhangore khal. The outlay on the project up to the end of 1899-1900 amounted to Rs. 8,76,857 for works only. In order to provide a shorter and easier route for steamers during the rainy season, certain improvements of the Madaripur Bhil route between the rivers Kumar and Madhumati from Khulna to Madaripur in the district of Faridpur were undertaken during the latter end of the year 1899-1900. The expenditure during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 was solely incurred on the improvement of the Madaripur Bhil route. Three estimates for the project have been sanctioned. The first amounting to Rs. 1,90,602 was for a channel about 22 miles in length to connect the Kumar and Madhumati rivers. This has shortened the distance between Khulna and Madaripur by 89 miles. The second is for widening the route. It amounts to Rs. 1,01,491. The third amounting to Rs. 2,25,000 is for deepening the route by two feet throughout. The works in connection with the second and third estimates, which were sanctioned in the latter part of the year 1901-1902 for the purpose of allowing steamers and flats drawing 6 feet of water to use the route during the jute season only between August and September, are in progress. The question of still further improving the channel so as to make it navigable throughout the year is under consideration.

The decrease of two miles in length is due to straightening the Bhil route between Tetulia and Julirpar.

Items 18, 19, 20 and 21 have been omitted, as the canals are for navigation only.

There was a gradual decrease in the navigation receipts during the two years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902. This was partly due to the fact that the rice crop in the Eastern Districts was below the average. The working expenses during the triennial period were practically normal. Owing to the decrease in the receipts the net revenue during the year 1901-1902 was Rs. 40,000 less than that of the previous year.

The bulk of the expenditure on maintenance and repairs was incurred in the Circular and new cut canals and Eastern Canals, the most important item being dredging. Other items, of repairs such as tow-path, rustic bridges, locks, sluices, channels, banks and buildings, were of an ordinary nature. In 1900-1901 a sum of Rs. 19,000 was expended on the re-building of the east abutment of the Tollygunge bridge over Tolly's Nala.

Owing to the canalization of the Bhangore khal the expenditure on silt clearance by hand has been greatly reduced.

The expenditure on silt clearance by dredging during the triennial period under review was normal. Constant dredging was necessary in the Circular Canal at Chitpur and in the Lake Channel below Dhappa to keep them open for traffic.

The expenditure on dredging shows a tendency to increase. This is due to the deterioration of the channel below the Dhappa lock which necessitate periodical dredging in order to keep it clear for boat traffic.

FOOT NOTE.—The canal being a navigable one, items 18, 19, 20 and 21 have been left blank.

The navigation receipts for 1901-1902 were the lowest since the Canal was opened. This great falling off is almost entirely due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway to which most of the rice and other goods traffic which hitherto were transported by country boats have been diverted. The working expenses, however, were much reduced during the last two years, and it is hoped that in normal years they may be still further reduced.

There was considerable falling off in all items of traffic during the triennial period under review. As already explained, the main cause of the decrease may be attributed to the diversion of nearly the whole of the canal traffic to the railway, and the withdrawal by the Steamer Companies of their steamers since February 1900.

* These items of expenditure are for repairs to the dredging plant, which worked both in the Orissa Coast and Hijili Tidal Canals.

The Balliaghye branch drain in Range III of the canal having silted up badly was closed for silt-clearance from Chowmuk to Balliaghye from the 15th February to the 16th June 1900. The main drain was also silt-cleared in 1901-1902.

Most of the dredging was done in Ranges III, IVB and V of the canal and in the Balliaghye drain and the Surpai cross bund.

The average cost of removing silt during the triennial period under review was higher than that of the previous period. This was due to the frequent breaking down of some of the dredgers.

The canals were closed in January 1898 and they have practically remained closed during the triennial period. They were opened for a short time only during the kharif and rabi seasons of the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902, owing to the great demand for water caused by the scanty rainfall in the district. The water was given free of charge at the request of the Collector and under the sanction of Government.

The receipts which are almost entirely from tolls on boats have been steadily decreasing. This is due to the deterioration of the river channels, which are gradually silting up. A scheme for making the Bhagirathi navigable for steamers throughout the year, by the employment of powerful suction dredgers, is being matured. The working expenses have been much reduced during the year 1901-02.

GAIGHATA AND BUXI KHAL.

109. The Gaighata and Buxi khal is 7½ miles in length. It was taken over by the Irrigation Department from the District Board, Howrah, on the 1st April 1894.

The financial results of the khal for the triennial period under review are given below :—

|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | Rs. | Rs. | Rs. |

| 1901-1902 | ... | 3,831 | 334 | 3,497 |
| Average | ... | 4,277 | 235 | 4,042 |

The right of collecting tolls on the khal had been leased for five years commencing from the year 1896-97, at an annual rental of Rs. 4,500. The lease having expired at the close of the year 1900-1901, it was renewed on the some terms for another five years.

The rainfall during the triennial period under review was considerably more than the average of the six years ending March 1899. The fall during 1901-1902 was however less than that of the two previous years and the average of the three years ending March 1902.

There was a slight increase in the area irrigated during the year 1901-1902, compared with the two previous years. The increase was partly due to the thorough silt clearance of Channel No. 1 at Jujuty, which facilitated the supply of water and partly to the failure of rain in October, when there was a great demand for water.

There was one case of unauthorised kharif irrigation during the year 1901-1902 of 355 acres in the Hooghly district. The area was assessed at 8 annas per bigha.

The average outturn of rice on an acre of land which received the benefit of canal water was far better than the outturn of the land irrigated without canal water.

No experiments were made with rabi crops.

* This figure has been arrived at by deducting Rs. 902 on account of realization in excess of the actual assessments from 1892-93 to 1895-96.

There was a marked and steady improvement in the collection of water-rates, and a very satisfactory reduction in the outstanding balance. The average during the triennial period under review was Rs. 9,258 only compared with the averages Rs. 32,878 and Rs. 21,277 of the two proceding triennial periods ending March 1896 and 1899.

In the remissions granted during the triennial period there was considerable decrease. This was due to more accurate assessments.

The area irrigated during the year 1901-1902 was much in excss of that of the two previous years. The average of the triennial period under review was, however, less than that of the two previous periods.

No charge is made for irrigation effected from the canal.

There was an increase in the number of trees during the year 1901-1902 compared with the previous year 1900-1901, but it was less than that of the year 1899-1900. Thereceipts during the triennial period was Rs. 7 only, while the expenditure was Rs. 176, or Rs. 169 in excess.

COLLECTION OF WATER-RATES.

133. The work done in the recovery of water-rates is shown in the following statement:—

| CANALS. | Average outstanding for the triennial period ending March 1899. | Average of the demand for the triennial period ending March 1902. | Average of the amount collected or adjusted for the period ending March 1902. | Average of the outstanding balance for the period ending March 1902. |

| Total ... | 12,281 | 14,18,020 | 14,15,269 | 2,751 |

The small outstanding balance is highly satisfactory, and is an index not only of the excellent administration of the collecting establishment, but also of the accuracy of the assessments made by the Canal officers.

134. In the following table a comparison is made between the approximate value of crops irrigated by Major Irrigation Works during the periods ending March 1899 and 1902:— VALUE OF CROPS.

| CANALS. | AVERAGE OF THE TRIENNIAL PERIOD ENDING MARCH 1899 | | AVERAGE OF THE TRIENNIAL PERIOD ENDING MARCH 1902. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Area irrigated. | Value of crops. | Area irrigated. | Value of crops. |
| 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 |
| | Acres. | Rs. | Acres. | Rs. |
| Orissa ... ... | 191,832 | 69,80,823 | 261,955 | 73,53,218 |
| Midnapore ... ... | 71,322 | 24,55,766 | 78,190 | 26,87,189 |
| Sone ... ... | 476,466 | 1,88,99,653 | 481,333 | 1,72,81,750 |
| Total ... | 739,620 | 2,83,36,242 | 761,478 | 2,73,22,163 |

The average value per acre of the various crops irrigated has decreased from Rs. 38·31 to Rs. 35·88.

135. The results of the working of the canals in Bengal for the period under review may be considered as fairly satisfactory.

The average area irrigated from the Orissa Canals during the period under review was slightly in excess of that irrigated during the preceding period; but there was a general decrease in the receipts. The average collections were Rs. 3,98,995, against Rs. 4,96,788, thereby showing a falling off of Rs. 97,793. The reduction was mostly under navigation, owing to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway and the abolition of the Government transport service. It is, however, satisfactory to note that the working expenses were reduced from Rs. 5,10,292 to Rs. 4,51,297. The floods in the rivers were of ordinary character, and, as a result, very little damage was done to the canals. ORISSA CANALS.

The average net revenue from this canal was Rs. 17,465 in excess of that earned during the previous triennial period. This was due to the fact that the average working expenses were reduced by Rs. 40,670, owing in a great measure to the cessation of the Steamer Service, which rendered dredging in the entrance channels to the locks and revetting of the canal banks almost unnecessary. MIDNAPORE CANAL.

There was a marked decrease in the navigation receipts from this canal. This was mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, which diverted most of the traffic. HIJILI TIDAL CANAL.

The area irrigated during the year 1901-1902 was the highest on record, and the average for the period under review exceeded that for the preceding period by 4,867 acres. The average receipts from water-rates increased from Rs. 10,09,662 to Rs. 10,26,459, but the navigation receipts decreased from Rs. 87,999 to Rs. 48,833. There was no appreciable improvement in the working expenses. SONE CANALS.

The most disappointing feature in the working of these canals during the past three years is the very marked decrease of navigation receipts, due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur and the Mogal Sarai-Gaya Railways. This is clearly shown in the following statement:—

| CANAL. | Average of triennial period ending— | | Period under review. | | | Average of triennial period ending March 1902. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | March 1896. | March 1899 | 1899-1900. | 1900-1901. | 1901-1902. | |

CALCUTTA AND EASTERN CANALS.

The most important work in progress is the improvement of the Madaripur Bhil route, which was taken up during the latter end of the year 1899-1900. There was a gradual decrease in the navigation receipts during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902, due partly to the general depression in trade and partly to the fact that the crops in the Eastern districts were below the average.

SARAN CANALS.

The Saran canals practically remained closed during the period under review, except for two short intervals during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902, when they were opened for the irrigation of the kharif and rabi crops, and water was given free of charge.

ORISSA COAST CANAL.

As in the case of the other navigable canals in Bengal, there was a considerable decrease in the navigation receipts of this canal, due mainly to the opening and competition of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

NADIA RIVERS.

The receipts have been steadily decreasing owing to the deterioration of the rivers, which are gradually silting up.

MADHUBAN CANAL. EDEN CANAL.

There is nothing of importance to note under this canal.

There was a slight increase in the collection of water-rates and in the area irrigated. The average amount of expenditure during the period under review was Rs. 38,256, against Rs. 71,624 during the previous period. This was simply due to the fact that there was no expenditure on original works during the last three years.

DATE FOR SUBMISSION OF REPORTS.

136. The date fixed for the submission of the triennial Revenue reports to the office of the Chief Engineer was the 5th September 1902. The dates when the different reports were received are shown below:—

FINAL FORECAST OF THE INDIGO CROP OF BENGAL, 1902.

THE following Note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Indigo Crop of Bengal, 1902.

Character of the season.—In forecasting the indigo crop, it is only necessary to consider the character of the season in the districts of Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Nadia and Murshidabad, which are the chief indigo-growing districts in the Province. The previous monsoon terminated very early and the winter rains failed; there was consequently serious lack of moisture in the early part of the season. There was practically no rain in February, but in March there was good rain everywhere. In Bihar, however, there were hailstorms and rain at the time of germination which rendered extensive re-sowing necessary. The rainfall in April was copious and general, except in Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga where it was slightly deficient. In May also there was good rain, except in Muzaffarpur and Monghyr, though the crop in the Bengal districts suffered to some extent from storms and heavy rain. In the following month the fall was deficient throughout the indigo area, especially in Saran, Champaran and Murshidabad. In July there was good rain almost throughout the indigo area, and in August also the fall, though slightly below the normal in many of the important indigo districts, was not insufficient for the requirements of this crop. The fall in September was general and very heavy, and indigo suffered from water-logging in Bengal, and from floods in Darbhanga and Muzaffarpur. October was unusually dry. The outturn is likely to be one of the worst on record.

Area sown.—The normal area at present under indigo in these Provinces is, according to the latest estimates made by District Officers, 412,400 acres, but this figure is too high, sufficient account not having been taken of the contraction of area under this crop, which has occurred during recent years. The area actually cultivated with indigo this year is estimated at 253,500 acres against 311,200 acres sown last year. The decrease is due to the present unfavourable prospects of the industry, owing to competition with synthetic indigo in the markets of Europe.

Character of the crop.—From Appendix I appended to this note, it will be seen that, except in Malda, District Officers everywhere expect an outturn below the normal. For the five districts of North Bihar, the outturn is estimated at 47 per cent. of a normal crop, while that for the remaining districts is estimated at 56 per cent. Of the nine important indigo districts enumerated above, the crop in four (Saran 32 per cent., Muzaffarpur 24 per cent. Nadia 25 per cent. and Murshidabad 12 per cent.) has been almost a complete failure. The outturn in Purnea, Monghyr and Bhagalpur varies between 70 and 76 per cent., while Darbhanga and Champaran forecast an outturn of 63 and 54 per cent., respectively. Since the issue of the preliminary forecast, the prospects of the crop have improved in three districts (Bhagalpur, Champaran and Monghyr), deteriorated in six (Nadia, Murshidabad, Purnea, Cuttack, Saran and Muzaffarpur), and are unchanged in ten. According to the estimates of the District Officers, the outturn for the Province as a whole will amount to 49 per cent. of an average crop. In my first forecast I anticipated a 50 per cent. crop for the whole Province, and I do not see any reason to change that estimate.

Gross outturn.—Assuming that the normal yield of indigo per acre in the nine Bihar districts is 20 lbs., and that of the Bengal districts 12 lbs., the total yield of indigo in the North Bihar districts, according to the district returns, will amount to 24,905 factory maunds. against 48,759 factory maunds of the past year, and that in the remaining area to 7,472 factory maunds as compared with 13,972 factory maunds of the preceding year. A factory maund is equal to about 75lbs.

Messrs. Moran & Co., however, estimate the outturn of the North Bihar districts at 26,000 factory maunds which very closely approximates the above estimate of the district officers, and this estimate may be accepted. Messrs. Moran & Co.'s estimate for the remaining area is only four to five thousand maunds, but from this figure several districts in which indigo is grown on a small scale are omitted. I estimate the yield for Bengal at 7,500 factory maunds.

PROGRESS OF EDUCATION IN BENGAL FROM THE YEAR 1897-98 TO 1901-1902.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 17th December 1902.

RESOLUTION—No. 3875.

READ—

The Review of Education in Bengal from the year 1897-98 to 1901-1902 with which is incorporated the Annual Report for 1901-1902.

THE Report covers the period of five years from 1897-98 to 1901-1902 and follows the lines of the Third Quinquennial Review of Education in India written by Mr. J. S. Cotton in 1898.

It is submitted by Mr. A. Pedler, F.R.S., C.I.E., Director of Public Instruction, who was in charge of the Department for seven months of the year 1901-02, his place being filled, during two periods of deputation to the Educational Conference at Simla and to the University Commission, by Mr. J. S. Slater. The Report was due to Government on the 1st October, but a complete copy did not reach the Secretariat till the 10th November, the delay being due partly to unusual pressure of work in the Press and partly to unpunctual submission of the Report of the Inspector of European Schools.

2. The most prominent features in the history of education in Bengal during the quinquennium, as depicted in this Report, are the falling off in the number of primary schools and pupils; the development of secondary education; the lamentably small progress made in female education; the continued backwardness of the Muhammadan population as compared with the Hindus; the increasing literacy among converts to Christianity; the revision of the system of vernacular education which was sanctioned in this Government's Resolution of the 1st January 1901; the development of the scheme of training schools with the establishment of the Kurseong Victoria School; the development, especially in Calcutta, of the system of hostels or boarding-houses for students, and the re-examination from the bottom of principles and methods of education which was initiated with the Education Conference held at Simla in 1901 and with the labours of the University Commission which began in 1902. Some of these matters will be noticed in this Resolution.

General statistics of institutions and pupils: primary and secondary education.

3. The decrease in the number of primary schools and pupils, which greatly outnumbers the increase obtained in the secondary schools, has been more or less continuous since the year 1896 97. There is a decrease in the number of schools, though not in the number of pupils, reported in 1892-93. This decrease has been the subject of enquiry under the orders of Government. The Director considers that the loss is nominal rather than real, and that it is due for the most part to elimination of weak and ephemeral schools from the returns; but he also thinks that there has been some real decrease of schools and pupils in recent years, owing to financial pressure and in localities to agricultural distress. These conclusions appear to be correct. It is not credible that there has really been a decrease in the number of children under instruction in Bengal in recent years, and the census figures show that in 1901 among persons over 15 years of age, there were 146 literate males per thousand against 137 in 1891. It was the special wish of the late Sir John Woodburn that earnest attempts should be made to increase the number of primary schools in the villages and to give them stability, and with this object, when allotting to the District Boards, to be expended on primary education, the sum of four lakhs out of the grant of ten lakhs placed at his disposal by the Government of India at the beginning of this year, he insisted that the Boards should devote a portion of the funds placed at their disposal to increasing the number of pathsalas as well as to improving the pay of the teachers in the existing schools.

While the primary schools have decreased in number during the last ten years, the large increase in the number of secondary schools and pupils, the conversion of many middle vernacular schools into middle English schools, and the increase in the number of boys learning English, indicate, as the Director remarks, an increasing desire among the people for higher standards of education. It is to be regretted that the Director finds that the standard of teaching in high schools is not so good as formerly; and it is to be hoped that the reforms consequent on the introduction of the new scheme of vernacular education and on the enquiries of the University Commission will lead to improvements in such schools.

4. The system of education followed in vernacular schools and in the lower classes of English secondary schools was remodelled during the quinquennium in accordance with proposals submitted by a Committee of officers of the Education Department over which the Director, Mr. Pedler, presided; these proposals were approved in Government Resolution No. 1, dated 1st January 1901. In the words of the late Lieutenant-Governor, the changes introduced "aim at developing the minds of the boys more than practising and strengthening their memories." The new system is based on Kindergarten principles and on the policy of teaching by object-lessons, which is an extension of the Kindergarten principle. In connection with this scheme, the vernacular text-books in use in schools have been entirely revised.

The scheme of improved vernacular education for Bengal.

Another important feature of the scheme is that Indian boys will in future not be allowed to commence to learn English before they are well grounded in their own vernacular. It has accordingly been decided that the child's mother-tongue shall be the medium of instruction up to Class V of high schools, which corresponds to Class I of middle schools and to Standard VI of the new scheme, and which is ordinarily reached when the child is about 13 years of age. The study of English as a subject is allowed and provided for from Standard III upwards, i.e., in Class VIIB of high schools, and in Class IV of middle schools; this is the standard above the lower primary classes, and is reached by the average boy at ten years of age.

5. Comparing the figures of the past ten years with those of the period under review, the Director finds that the total number of girls under instruction has increased by 13 per cent.; but this increase was gained in the first five years, and there has actually been a decrease in the number of girls returned as under instruction in the last five years, which is no doubt connected with the disappearance from the returns of the weak and ephemeral primary schools. According to the last census, the total number of females in Bengal was 39,215,224. Out of this number, the number of literate females was 7 per thousand against 4 only in 1891. The progress in female education in this Province has therefore been slow, though in Calcutta there has been marked advance. The Director gives in paragraph 4 of his report the reasons stated below as accounting for this slow progress:—

Female education.

"The chief causes for the slow progress of female education in this country are—(1) conservatism of a great portion of the people; (2) the fact that the education of their female children is a matter of great indifference to a large proportion of parents and guardians, as they usually do not take the same amount of care and interest in the education of their female wards as they do in that of boys; (3) the system of early marriage, which presents an almost insurmountable barrier to education beyond the Primary stages; (4) the want of educated female teachers; (5) the want of a system for educating zenana ladies; (6) the want of adequate State aid and aid from the other Public Funds."

The late Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal had the cause of female education much at heart. Considerable increase of public expenditure has been sanctioned and will be devoted to schools for girls and on Inspectresses of Schools; and the training of female teachers is being encouraged.

6. There was a slight increase in the number of Muhammadan pupils in colleges and secondary schools and madrasas, but the decrease in the number of Muhammadan boys returned as reading in primary schools was much larger. This decrease is no doubt due to the elimination of weak schools from the general returns which has been above noticed; but the backwardness of the Muhammadan population in availing themselves of education continues in spite of special encouragements held out to Muhammadan students by way of scholarships and special facilities offered to them for entrance into the public service, and until this backwardness is overcome it must continue to be a matter of solicitude to the Government and to the leaders of the Muhammadan community.

Secondary education and University education.

7. During the ten years ending with March 1902, the advance in the number of students in secondary schools and in colleges has been marked. The students in secondary schools increased from 197,285 to 244,992, while those in colleges numbered 10,463 in 1900-1901 as compared with 6,287 ten years previously. The current edition of the "Statesman's Year Book" gives the number of male students at the various universities and colleges in the United Kingdom as 32,278. Thus Bengal, with nearly twice the population of the United Kingdom, has only one-third of the number of male university students. A comparison of the respective numbers of female students reading in colleges who number only 77 in Bengal with the numbers of such students in the United Kingdom would indicate far greater backwardness.

There was a net increase during the quinquennium of six unaided colleges and a large increase in the number of students in Arts Colleges, especially in the Law classes. The number of candidates at all the University examinations increased. The number of candidates at the F. A. examination in ten years has exceeded the number who matriculated during the same period, the explanation being that many candidates appear more than once at this examination. The percentage of success at the Entrance and F. A. examinations fell off slightly during the quinquennium. The average of success at the B. A. examination has been lower during the last five years than in the preceding five years, and at the M. A. examination the percentage of passes has remained almost unchanged, owing, it is said, to a practical uniformity in the standard.

Technical education.

8. Technical education is imparted in the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, the Bihar School of Engineering, the Survey Schools at Dacca and Cuttack, and also in schools affiliated to the Civil Engineering College at Sibpur. There was a decrease during the quinquennium in the total number of pupils reading in the Survey Schools. The largest decrease took place in the Survey School at Dacca, owing, it is said, to the difficulty which the students experience in securing employment after passing the sub-overseer's examination. This matter will be separately considered in consultation with the Public Works Department of this Government. During the last quinquennium, the study of Science in Arts Colleges has advanced, and practical subjects of education have been introduced in high, middle, and primary schools. Drawing is now taught in almost all high schools, and Elementary Science subjects have been introduced in the curriculum of lower classes.

The Agricultural classes established in 1899 in the Civil Engineering College at Sibpur have been fairly successful. Ten out of twelve of the higher agricultural class and all the lower class students passed the examination last year; and all the successful students of the first class and the majority of those of the lower class have obtained appointments in the Government Service or under private gentlemen owning landed estates.

Expenditure.

9. The expenditure on public instruction from public funds has advanced from 36 lakhs in 1892-93 and 10 lakhs in 1896-97 to 43 lakhs in 1901-1902. This increase has practically been given entirely from Provincial revenues as the increased expenditure of recent years on education shown in the accounts of District Funds is due to larger grants being made from Provincial Funds in aid of District Boards and to the constitution of District Boards in the four districts of the Chota Nagpur Division, and not to development of the resources of District Boards. There has been no increase during the quinquennium of expenditure on education from Municipal funds. The increased expenditure of public funds in recent years has been mainly on account of secondary education and inspection, and it is only since an allotment has been made in the current year from Imperial Revenues that a substantial increase of expenditure on primary schools has been sanctioned.

Inspection.

10. There was an increase during the quinquennium in the number of Inspecting Officers of all classes. The number of Inspectors was raised from 6 to 9, excluding the Inspector of European Schools, and an Inspector of Schools is now provided for each Commissioner's Division. An increase of 64 Sub-Inspectors of Schools has recently been sanctioned with the object of reducing the number of primary schools to be inspected by each Sub-Inspector and the size of the Sub-Inspector's circles. This increase was rendered necessary by the orders which abolish the system of remuneration of teachers on the results of public examinations of their pupils and which substitute a system of remuneration with reference to results ascertained on inspections of the schools in situ.

The Inspecting Officers of higher grades performed their inspection duties during the year 1901-1902 to the Director's satisfaction. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that, with the constitution of the new circles of Chota Nagpur and Chittagong, there will be fewer transfers of Inspectors next year.

All the Sub-Inspectors in the Burdwan Division, excepting those of Midnapore and Hooghly, and the Sub-Inspectors of Pabna, Darjeeling and Backergunge, failed to tour for the prescribed minimum of 200 days; the minimum number of 350 visits was not attained in the Sonthal Parganas, Midnapore, Rajshahi, Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling. These shortcomings should not be allowed to recur.

11. The Acting Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in acknowledging the services rendered by Mr. Pedler and during his absence by Mr. Slater as Director of the Department of Public Instruction.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT, BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION.

Oral Examination in the knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation prescribed in the case of Teachers of English and those who teach through the medium of English in Secondary Schools.

IN order to carry out a recommendation of the Simla Educational Conference of 1901 which was also approved by the Government of India, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has been pleased to direct that all new teachers to be appointed in future and who are to teach English or other subjects through the medium of English in Secondary Schools, whether managed directly by the Education Department and by the District Boards and Municipalities, or aided by the Department or such local bodies, must have passed an oral examination in English idiom and pronunciation and hold certificates to that effect. It is proposed to enforce this rule from 1st April 1903. Masters who will teach only through the vernaculars are exempted from this examination.

2. Teachers who are already in service and vernacular teachers hereafter to be appointed shall not in future be promoted to posts which involve teaching in English or through the medium of English until they have passed the examination now prescribed.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that managers of unaided Schools will co-operate heartily in the object which the Government has in view, namely, the improvement of the teaching of English in Secondary Schools.

4. Inspectors of Schools, Principals and Professors of Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University, and Principals of Training Colleges are authorised to hold this examination, provided that they themselves have been born in Great Britain and Ireland or in an English-speaking Colony and have been educated in the British Islands, or in any such British Colony. As there is no likelihood of the several offices referred to being always held by gentlemen possessing the qualifications specified, it is not possible to fix the various centres of the examination permanently, except in a few cases.

5. The Colleges and Offices below named are fixed as centres permanent for practical purposes, for holding the examination above prescribed, as in them European Officers of the Indian Educational Service appointed from England will ordinarily be available to conduct the Examination.

Calcutta.

Presidency College, Calcutta, European Principal and European Professors.
Calcutta Madrasa, ditto ditto.
Office of Inspector of European Schools, Bengal.

Patna.

Patna College, European Principal and European Professors.
Office of European Inspector of Schools, Patna Division.

Jalpaiguri.

Office of European Inspector of Schools, Rajshahi Division.

Dacca.

Dacca College, European Principal and European Professors.

Kurseong.

Victoria Training College, European Principal and European Teachers.

6. In addition to the above named officers, the Principals and Professors of aided and unaided Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University who possess the requisite qualifications, will be competent to hold the examination and their co-operation in the matter is cordially invited.

7. Only those persons who have passed the University Entrance examination, or one of the higher examinations of Indian Universities, the High School examination of European Schools, or the Final School examination which it is proposed shortly to introduce, will be eligible to appear at the new examination, and such candidates will be at liberty to apply to any one of the Officers named above with a view to being examined. Arrangements for examination to be held by the Educational Officers under Government mentioned above will be made at once. The examination will be held quarterly in March, June, September and December on such dates as may be fixed by the Officers who are authorised to conduct this examination.

8. The examination of each candidate probably need not take much time. A candidate should be required to read short passages from English prose and poetry and should be put to a colloquial test in two or three different subjects.

9. It has also been decided that for the first year of operation of this order candidates shall not be required to pay fees, and that the question of the remuneration of Examiners need not be considered until it has been ascertained how many persons present themselves for examination.

10. The certificate may be given in the following form, which should be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for countersignature :—

"Certified that _____, son of _____, of _____ Village in the district of _____, who has presented a certificate of having passed the _____ examination in the year _____, has appeared at an oral examination held at _____ on the _____ for the purpose of testing his knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation, and that in these respects the Examinee is, in the opinion of the undersigned, qualified to teach English in Secondary Schools in Bengal."

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M., of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale, noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

| DEPOSIT. |
| When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest. |
| On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest. |
| On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest. |
| And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional to the extent of Rs. 400. |

6. The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9. The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

11. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal receipts, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, Certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, Report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory for the year 1901-1902, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

Customs Circular No. XIX of 1902.

No. 6634S.R., dated the 15th December 1902.

From—The Secretary to the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Dept.,
To—(1) The Secretary to the Government of Madras, Revenue Department.
(2) „ „ „ „ Bombay, „ „
(3) „ „ „ „ Bengal, Financial „
(4) „ Revenue Secretary to the Government of Burma.

WITH reference to the correspondence ending with your letter
(1) No. 780, dated the 28th August 1902,
(2) No. 624M., dated the 27th October 1902,
(3) No. 1713T.F., dated the 26th September 1902,
(4) No. 327—2 C.-S, dated the 15th September 1902,
I am directed to forward a copy of letter No. 6635S.R of to-day's date to the Secretary, Calcutta Import Trade Association, conveying the decision of the Government of India with regard to the assessment to customs duty of cotton prints imported in lengths of 2½ yards and upwards. I am to request that this decision may be communicated to the Collectors of Customs in the Madras Presidency,
the Bombay Presidency,
Bengal,
Burma.

No. 6635S.R., dated the 15th December 1902.

From—The Secretary to the Govt. of India, Finance and Commerce Dept.,
To—The Secretary, Calcutta Import Trade Association.

I AM now directed to communicate the decision of the Government of India on the question raised in your letter No. 36M., dated 2nd June 1902, regarding the customs duty payable on cotton prints imported in lengths of 2½ yards and upwards. The Committee of your Association states that similar goods made in the Indian mills pay an excise duty of 3½ per cent., and contends that it is unfair to levy a duty of 5 per cent. on imported goods, and thus to protect the local article to the extent of 1½ per cent ad valorem.

2. The Government of India do not consider that the provisions of the Cotton Duties Act, 1896 (II of 1896), are relevant to the point at issue, which is simply whether the goods are "cotton piece-goods" or "apparel" within the meaning in which these terms are used in the fourth schedule of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894 (VIII of 1894). "Piece-goods" are lengths of textiles manufactured as material for conversion by subsequent manipulation into articles for wearing apparel, domestic use, etc. The prints, of which a sample was forwarded with your letter, are finished articles with a selvage and a fringe at either end. They have already received the manipulation preparing them for use as apparel, and they are, therefore, in the opinion of the Government of India, taxable as apparel at 5 per cent. ad valorem.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; ⌓, dew.
